

Promotion IN ACTION

April 26, 2024

COREY SCOTT, CEO

Comments from Our CEO

Incremental sales, leadership, and crisis preparedness are all at the top of my mind in this month's Promotion in Action. There is no better time than early Spring to begin planning and laying the foundation for the upcoming busy summer season at the farm and in the grocery store aisles! Within these pages, you'll find results from some of our winter partner campaigns, all of which successfully drove positive impressions of dairy, how our next generation of dairy leaders are developing to tell dairy's story, and some areas in which you can be prepared for the season ahead.

We are hot on the heels of a successful Annual Meeting, where we saw new and familiar faces and double-clicked into some promotional activity occurring across the region first-hand. It has been a whirlwind first month of my employment as your new Midwest Dairy CEO, and I hope these stories bring you as much energy and excitement about your checkoff dollars at work as they do for me!

Also, if you have not had a chance to yet, check out our Annual Report!

Join the Midwest Dairy Farm Crisis Webinar

Are you prepared for a crisis on your farm? Please join Midwest Dairy on June 6, 2024, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. CT as we provide tips, tools, and resources to prepare for and manage an on-farm crisis. Attendees will review the core components of a farm crisis plan, ways to prepare after the plan is developed, and critical steps to take in the event of a crisis.

While you may not be able to predict a crisis on your farm, you can and should prepare for one. Anticipation and preparation will help your business recover, so should you ever experience an on-farm crisis, you will be ready to take immediate action steps that can help you, your family, employees, and the overall farming operation mitigate risk and resume normal operation.
