Comments from Our CEO

As we wrap up another busy summer, I want to take a moment to thank you, the Midwest dairy farmers, for everything you do each day providing safe, wholesome milk to families across our region. While you've been working hard on your farms, the Midwest Dairy team has been working hard on your behalf—sharing your story, building trust in dairy, and making sure your voice is heard in the marketplace. Every conversation and project is done with you in mind, because we know how important it is to preserve the trust you've earned over generations of hard work.

I'd like to encourage and remind you to explore the opportunities available this summer and fall through our partnership with Lasso. The program offers new grant opportunities that could benefit your farm, whether you're exploring new technology, sustainability projects, or community outreach. Thank you for letting Midwest Dairy to be part of your journey. We're honored to work alongside you and advocate for the industry you care so deeply about. As summer winds down and we head into what's sure to be another busy fall, I hope you find a moment to enjoy the season's rhythm and know that Midwest Dairy is here with you every step of the way.
